

SECOND ESTIMATE OF CANADA'S 1946 WHEAT CROP PLACED AT 418,000,000 BUSHELS

OTTAWA—Canada's 1946 wheat crop was placed at 418,000,000 bushels in the second estimate of production of wheat crops by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The estimate, issued Sept. 13, placed the wheat crop at 405,507,000 bushels. The 1945 crop was 395,812,000.

On production for all Canada this year was estimated at 380,000,000 bushels, valued at $180,000,000, per acre at $100 and 38,000,000 bushels of wheat produced in Saskatchewan valued at $2,000,000 bushels, while output in Alberta was placed at 137,000,000 bushels against 142,000,000. Manitoba's production was estimated at 60,000,000 bushels, up 1,000,000 from the earlier estimate.

Private production of oats was estimated at 27,000,000 bushels and valued at 141,000,000.

Noting that the second wheat harvest was lower than the first, the bureau said the decline "may be largely attributed to unfavorable harvesting conditions in Saskatchewan and Alberta in 1945, and in the September estimate, but may also be due in part to earlier underestimation of extent of damage caused by the July frosts."

It stated that unsatisfactory harvesting weather and frosts also accounted for the decline in the oat estimate of some 13,000,000 bushels and declined value of the bushels in the barley estimate, amounting to 1,000,000 bushels and $75 bushels.

Canada's Prices To Stand Up Against U.S. Rising Costs

OTTAWA—The rising tide of uncertainty in the United States is expected here to wash much cash out of the Canadian consumer's pocket. Canadian prices for many commodities, the federal officials said, are to stand up against the pressure generated by the dollar's decline.

Despite the close economic tie between the two countries, Canadian prices of various kinds seem to insulate Canada considerably.

1. Lowering the excise tax on some items, permit their purchase at higher U.S. prices and sales in Canada.
2. Changing the money system on government securities when U.S. farm implement prices rise.
3. Taking the least selling price in the United States as the Canadian price.
4. A firm hand on Canadian currency.

The recent revolution of the Canadian dollar to parity with the American dollar also seems an giving buyers here advantages of around 10 per cent, that he didn't have previously in the U.S. market.

Prices below official hearing reports of increased prices in U.S. crops and non-ferrous metals and Canada, but even so, economy and the dollar don't buy any lead, except for auto-vehicles in the U.S. market.

But the U.S. market is the source of the trouble. The war-time price system kept down tightly on these metals.
